COMMERCIAL INTELLIGENCE

FRIDAY EVENING, 8TH FEB. 1878.

THE rapid change in the political situation which took place at Home late yesterday has come so unexpectedly that it is difficult as yet to ascertain the exact effect on commercial matters. In most of the markets no movement whatever was reported, but this, in all probality, was owing to the change in the position only being apparent after business hours. There can be no doubt, however, about the effect on the funds, Consols having fallen ⅛ and French Rentes ½, closing quotations being 95⅝ and 110 respectively. To-day's messages will afford a much better guide as to the way in which people regard the future, and in the meantime business of all kinds will probably remain very inactive.

In the London General Produce Markets the only change recorded is a decline of 6d. per cwt. in Native Coffee; Wheat is unaltered; and in Seeds, with the exception of a reduction of 6d. per quarter in Calcutta Rapeseed, previous prices are repeated.

The Manchester Piece Goods Market yesterday was dull, and Cotton in Liverpool opened quiet and closed inanimate, the day's sales being estimated at 10,000 bales. Spot quotations are all nominally unchanged, nor do we hear of any movement in arrivals, but unless a decided improvement has taken place in the aspect of political affairs in the interval, we may look for very dull news in the morning.

From New York, yesterday's telegrams still quote ready Mid. Uplands at 11¼ cents. per lb., but May shipment is quoted at 11¼ cents, a decline of 1-16 cent. per lb. The Receipts at the U.S. ports to date are as follows :—

	1878.	1877.	1876.
Thursday's Receipts...	17,000	19,000	19,000
Six days' do. ...	115,000	116,000	97,000
Total since 1st Sept...	3,221,000	3,257,000	3,161,000

The weekly return of the Bank of England shows a decrease in the Reserve of £100,000 and a decrease in Discounts of £100,000, while Bullion is larger by £100,000. The proportion of the Reserve to Liabities, however, has advanced from 44¼ to 56¼ per cent., and the rate of discount on 6 months' Bank Bills in the open market remains at 2½ per cent.

Bar Silver in London, according to Reuter, has advanced from 54½ to 54⅝d. to ⅛d. per oz., which is apparently confirmed by the tenor of private advices, but at the same time shipmentsare advised by yesterday's P. and O. Steamer from Southampton of £150,000 for Bombay and £70,000 for Calcutta. No better proof could he had, if proof were wanting of the reported scarof the Metal in London, an d as we have had occasion to remark morethan once of late, the Eastern Exchanges are, after all, the leading influence in the Silver Market.

STERLING EXCHANGE to-day has shown a decidedly weaker tone, the Banks having reduced their drawing rates by 1-16d. and their buying prices by 1-32d. per rupee. Even at the reduction the feeling of the market is more in favour of buying than selling, and so long as the amount of Bills offering here is so limited as at present, there is little probability of rates advancing materially, whatever may be said of Silver. We quote now on London :—

Bank Bills, on demand.....	Is. 8d.	per Rupee
Do. 6 months' sight...	Is. 9d.	,,
Credits, 3 months' sight...	Is. 9 3-32d.	,,
Documents, 3 ,, ...	Is. 9⅛ to 8-16d.	,,
Sovereigns each, ,,	Rs. 11-5-6.	,,

On Calcutta, the rates for demand bills may be quoted at 3-16 to ¼ per cent. premium, and for 60 days' sight at ¼ per cent. discount, but the latter is quite nominal.

GOVERNMENT PAPER is stagnant and quite nominal in value. In the morning there was a strong disposition shown to sell, but finding that even a reduction in rates would not bring out buyers, sellers eventually withdrew. Yesterday's rates may still be quoted, viz :—Fours, Rs. 95 ; Fours-and-a-half, Rs. 95½ ; Fives and-a-half, Rs. 103.

The SHARE MARKET remains dull in the extreme, and very few transactions have taken place. Bank of Bombays are ¼ per cent. ex. div., Colaba Land shares have declined Rs. 10, and in Press shares we note a fall of Rs. 10 in Berars and Rs. 5 in Mofussils. Spinning and Weaving Companies are very dull, and it is difficult to give exact quotations, but, as a general rule, a further fall of Rs. 5 to Rs. 25 per share may be quoted, and even on this basis there are few buyers.

COTTON has been particularly quiet to-day ; no very marked change has taken place in prices, but buyers, pending further advices of how the Home markets have been affected by politics, have almost entirely withdrawn from the market. Purchases are reported of G. F. Omra at Rs. 182 and F. G. F. at Rs. 187, of Good Broach at Rs. 207 and F. G. F. at Rs. 205 per candy, all full pressed, February delivery. We quote for this month's delivery :—

Good Ringunghaut.....	Rs. 206	per candy F. P.
Do. Broach	,, 207	,, ,,
Do. Omra	,, 194	,, ,,
F. G. F. ,, ...	,, 187	,, ,,
G. F. ,, ...	,, 182	,, ,,
F. F. ,, ...	,, 175	,, ,,
Fair ,, ...	,, 171	,, ,,

SEEDS AND WHEAT are practically unaltered.

FREIGHTS continue very dull. For Liverpool by steamer £1-12 6 is the current rate and by sailing vessel £1-15 per ton for February-March shipment. For Trieste and Venice £2-5 payable here is still quoted, and for Havre by steamer business has been done at £2 per ton.

PIECE Goods show no change of any kind. Prices are nominally unaltered, but the demand is most inactive, and where business is done it means a concession in rate. Local Goods and Yarns are most difficult of sale, and several of the Mills are reported to be considering the advisability of working only half time.

COALS are a trifle firmer owing to the tenor of the political news, but we have not heard of any fresh business.

The Bombay Gazette

SATURDAY, FEBRUARY 9, 1878.

THE vainglorious folly of Russia, in stipulating for the occupation by her troops of the lines of defence at Constantinople as one of the conditions of the armistice, has had the immediate result of placing the English Ministry for the first time, as regards its Eastern policy, at the head of a united nation. As we anticipated, Mr. Forster in the House of Commons at once withdrew his amendment, and the much debated grant of six millions was voted by a majority so large as to show that the Liberal party is temporarily broken up, and that moderate men on both sides of the House are unanimous in their determination to give the Ministry any supplies it wants to uphold the honour of the country. The minority in the division must have been composed entirely of the philosophical Radicals who have talked themselves and one another into the belief that it would be the height of wickedness for England to check the designs of Holy Russia. Such an opposition can carry no weight with the country ; and Lord Beaconsfield has practically become the most powerful Minister England has known since the days of Pitt—who, also, even when in the height of his power, was always opposed by a minority of the House of Commons. His difficulty will now be, as is shown by the outbreak of popular violence in London, not to spur the people on to war, but to hold them back. Prince Gortschakoff must be excessively surprised and disconcerted by the apparent suddenness of this change in the temper of the British nation. Did he not last year, when Lord Derby wrote to him stating the conditions of English neutrality, reply that the Emperor could not pledge himself that his army might not be compelled in the course of warlike operations to enter Constantinople ; and did not the English Government, by refraining from offering any protest against even the temporary occupation of the city, tacitly admit the fairness of this claim ? Although, too, the troops at the close of a successful campaign are naturally loth to be deprived of the gratification of having the enemy's capital placed at their mercy, and although the securities for peace might be considered insufficient so long as the Turks could hold Constantinople, has not Russia freely promised to reserve the question of the permanent fate of that city for the decision of a European Conference, in which she will only have one vote ? Finally, when England sigaified a fortnight ago that she resented the Russian advance on Gallipoli as an attempt to acquire the dominion of the Straits, did not the Czar's Government forthwith stop the march of the troops, and give explicit assurances, which have not been violated, that Gallipoli should not be attacked ? What means, then, the bewildered Russian Chancellor will ask, this sudden access of popular fury in London ? Undoubtedly, many political writers in England foresaw that the temporary occupation or command of Constantinople would form one of the conditions of peace, and the probability that such an event would occur was discussed with a calmness which must have misled the Czar's Government. The English Ministry warned Russia some time ago that an advance on Constantinople would excite a feeling of irritation in England which it would be impossible to restrain ; but this warning seems to have been unheeded, for the simple reason that foreigners cannot understand the impulsiveness of the English character, which carries the nation away from time to time in a whirlwind of passion, making sad havoc of the careful arguments and admirable moral sentiments by means of which philosophical statesmen may have flattered themselves that they held rule over the national conscience and judgment. The actual presence of the Russians at Constantinople seems to have revealed as it were in a moment to the English people the dramatic force and completeness of the Russian conquest of Turkey. They did not follow the operations of the war closely, or vex their minds with the niceties of diplomacy ; but they can realize the truth that the sovereignty of Constantinople would give the Russians the power of inflicting perhaps deadly injuries on the British Empire, and it is evident, from their distrustful reception of Prince Gortschakoff's explanatory telegram, that they also regard the Russian advance after the signing of the armistice at Adrianople as a breach of faith. Hence, the news, in its first exaggerated form, which represented the Russians as having already entered the city, created as much excitement in London as was caused by the memorable "massacre" of Sinope, which in the winter of 1853 confounded the diplomatists after months spent in purposeless negotiations by predisposing the English people to accept war with Russia.

The English Ministry, unless it has a very well defined programme which it has longed for the means of executing, must be half frightened at the completeness of its own success. It has now at its back, for good or for evil, infinitely the most formidable political force that exists in the world—an eager and energetic democracy possessed of unbounded wealth, and able, if it so wills, to supply the Government with an unlimited number of splendid soldiers. Lord Beaconsfield referred with becoming pride lately to the glorious example England set to other nations at the beginning of this century, when she fought alone against the whole Continent. But the material resources of England are a hundredfold greater now than when she contended successfully with the Great Napoleon. The population of the United Kingdom has doubled itself since the beginning of the century, and Mr. Gladstone, no mean authority it will be allowed on such a question, has asserted that the capital saved in England since the peace of 1815 greatly exceeds that accumulated in all the eight centuries from the battle of Hastings to the battle of Waterloo. Moreover, the inventions which have changed the whole character of modern warfare are nearly all of English origin ; they can be most skilfully worked by English hands ; and they help to strengthen the power for offence and defence of the nation which possesses the largest stores of coal and iron and the greatest skill in using them. The employment of iron in the construction of men-of-war is a distinct gain for the British Navy, which is now so strong that it should be far more than a match for the combined navies of all other maritime States. In guns and other material of war England certainly is not behind her neighbours ; and the regular army, if it be small in numbers, makes up in quality for its defect of quantity. Experts who have seen the Russian armies in the field seem to have come to the same conclusion as the Duke of Wellington did after seeing a review of the Russian army, 150,000 strong, at Paris in 1814 :—"Well, it's a very fine sight, but I think "our little army could walk round it any day." The Russians, however, have the great advantage of having already passed their troops through the ordeal of a most severe campaign, in which they have had very hard fighting, and have accomplished desperate enterprises with a hardihood fully equal to that of the British soldier, and with a patience under extreme privations which we fear Tommy Atkins would not be at all likely to imitate. The Russians are by no means a despicable foe. A war undertaken against them would hardly be one to be finished in a single campaign, and it is thus generally rage over the greater part of the Old World. England, therefore, would need to put forth her utmost strength ; and though the struggle would be an excessively costly one, and would burden her with a debt probably of six hundred instead of only six millions, we are confident in her ability to conduct the war to a victorious issue, if she goes into it with her whole heart and does not squander her resources on petty and useless expeditions at the outset. She ought to be prepared to place at least 100,000 men in the field to begin with ; and as she has at home nearly 500,000 trained men actually under arms, while as many more have gone

THE Bombay Legislative Council yesterday passed the "Bill for the licensing of Trades and Dealings in the Presidency of Bombay," not only through the second, but also through the third reading. Mr. Ashburner, in the course of the Bill, "apologised for what we would term unseemly haste, but what he preferred to call a "some-what rapid proceeding," on account of "the extreme pressure of financial affairs," which rendered it necessary to have the machinery of the Act put in working order before the 1st of April. Mr. Rogay proposed that the final consideration of the Bill should be postponed for a fortnight, or a month, "in accordance with the prayer of a number of influential members of the community ;" but only Mr. Lang was found to support the public voice when the question was put to the vote, and so the proposed postponement was abandoned by the united decision of the whole official members against the independent members present. At the same meeting, the Bombay Municipal Bill, and the General Presidency Abkari Bill were each read a third time and passed. Several amendments moved by Mr. Lang to the Municipal Bill,—the chief of which were proposals to lower the amount of town duties of which refunds can be granted from Rs. 5 to Rs. 2, and to strike out the words "timber, excluding railway sleepers,—2½ per cent. on market value" from schedule B.—met with the same fate as Mr. Rogay's opposition to the action of the Executive Government in the case of the Trades Licence Bill. The Presidency Abkari Bill was amended in some minor particulars, on the motion of Mr. Ashburner, who has it in hand. The third reading was postponed pending the consideration by Government of the representations of the Corporation regarding the effect the Bill will have on the Municipal revenues. Mr. Ashburner said that it is proposed to insert a provision reserving to the Corporation all the rights they enjoy under Act IX. of 1867.

A NUMBER of the G. I. P. Railway Volunteers did not attend the Volunteer Ball last night, on account of the lamented death of Mrs. Bulkley, wife of the Adjutant of the Railway Corps.

THE Times of India published yesterday morning a "special telegram" announcing that the Russians were marching on "Gallipoli." This statement appears to be quite unfounded. The Russians promised the English Government not to go to Gallipoli, and they have so far kept their word.

A REPORT has been drawn up by Mr. James Macnabb Campbell, of the Bombay Civil Service, on the various wild herbs, fruits, seeds, &c., used as food in the Kaladji district during the pressure of the recent famine, showing how they have been used, their value, and effects on health. This report has been annotated by Professor Gray of the Grant Medical College, Bombay, who has identified as far as possible each plant mentioned, explained its known properties, and shown where the information given by Mr. Campbell's report discloses unknown properties. We understand that the papers will be published in the Gazette of India for public information.

A YOUNG Cavalry officer stationed in Poona has just accomplished a most extraordinary feat by walking 45 miles in 12 hours and 3 quarters, on the Nuggur road. He walked the 42nd and 43rd and 44th miles in 39 minutes—not bad going for an untrained pedestrian.

CONSIDERABLE discrepancies have hitherto existed between the statistics of area and population published by the various administrations in India and those laid before Parliament. For instance as regards population in the Bombay Report for 1872-73 the total population was given as 16,352,623, while that adopted by the Government of India was 16,349,206. In the North Western Provinces the population was ascertained by the census to be 30,781,204. In the Administration Report for 1872-73 it was stated on returns "based on the records of the census of 1872" as 30,769,056. Concerning other Provinces similar discrepancies exist both as regards area and population which are not capable of any very clear explanation. With the view of obtaining as far as possible uniformity in such statements we understand that such instructions will shortly be issued by the Government of India as will ensure the correction of the local returns where they are in error, and will obtain a satisfactory explanation in any case where the figures adopted by the Government of India require correction.

THE Pioneer—Probably many more letters miscarry on their way to the Post Office than in course of delivery. Holding this creed, the postal authorities are about to adopt a system by which, on payment of half an anna, one may obtain a receipt for his letter at the post office window. Our impression is, however, that the system, though it only provides a certificate of safe posting, may diminish eventually the receipts for registration fees, unless the fee is reduced. In England it has just been lowered from 4*d.* to 2*d.* Why not here from four annas to two ?

THE Town Hall, Calcutta, was on Monday evening the scene of a farewell dinner, given by his brother officers and friends to Major-General Thuillier, on the occasion of his approaching departure from India. Sir Edwin Johnston, who was supported by Sir Richard Garth, occupied the chair, and between sixty and seventy persons were present. After the usual toasts had been drunk, Sir Edwin Johnston rose and, in very handsome terms, proposed the health of the guest of the evening. Major-General Thuillier returned thanks in a very feeling speech, and the party broke up at about eleven o'clock.

AN unauthenticated rumour of the death of the Amir of Cabul has recently obtained circulation. It is believed to be a canard.

SMALL-POX is spoken of as prevalent in Sukkur, Hyderabad Collectorate.

WE are informed that the line of railway about to be constructed by the Pondicherry Railway Company, will probably be worked by the South Indian Railway Company.

WE understand that certain suggestions have been made by Mr. John Head, of the firm of Rennes, Sims, and Head, Agricultural Engineers in England, regarding the employment of steam thrashing machines for the development of the trade in wheat in India, which suggestions are at present under the consideration of the Government of India.

WE understand that the Secretary of State has sanctioned the appointment of a separate Commissioner of Salt Revenue in Madras on a salary of Rs. 2,000 per mensem, and has asked the Government of India for an early expression of its opinion on the important question of the substitution of an excise for the present system of monopoly.

WE understand that the settlement of the Sitapur district in Oudh has been confirmed by the Secretary of State for the usual period of 30 years. The district comprises 1,410,387 acres, the cultivated area being 64·4 per cent., a higher proportion than in any other district of the province. The district is held mainly by Rajput communities. The final result of the revision of assessment, the rates having been greatly lowered in the course of the settlement from what was originally proposed, is an increase of revenue from Rs. 9,39,397 to Rs. 13,03,694, an increase of 38 per cent. The revenue rate per cultivated area is Re. 1-6-10, which is lower than in any other district, except Gonda, in which it is the same, and Bahraich in which it is a Re. 1-5-11.

Vanity Fair says :—The little State of Kashgar, the one country remaining independent on our northern Indian frontier since the subjugation of Khiva, Bokhara, and Khokand by Russia, seems destined to disappear like all else in the wreck of the barriers which once safeguarded the Indian Empire. The Chinese have captured Aksu, and probably by this time are masters of Kucha, the fall of which will place the country at their feet. Now it might be thought that these events are entirely disconnected with the Russian advance on India, and it has even been suggested that Russia herself will resist the conquest of Kashgar by the Chinese ; but this is so far from being the case that it is by virtue of Russian help alone, in the shape of supplies afforded them from the Russian province of Ili, that the Chinese have been enabled to overcome the valiant resistance of the Yarkundis. Sayyad Yakub Khan, who came to England last year as an envoy from Kashgar, pointed out to the English Government and to the India Office the imminence of the danger to his country and through his country to India, and begged for help, but as usual got nothing but non-countenance ; and the result is that another has been added to the list of independent States sacrificed to the divine mission of Russia in the East. For it is needless to say that the Chinese are the mere tools of Russia in this instance, and will only be allowed by her to hold Kashgar till she wants it herself.

THE late Treasury ... clerk, Lahore, who in September ... absconded after ... embezzling large sums of Government money, and for whose capture a reward of 1,000 rupees reward was offered by Government, has been arrested at Cannanore, near Calcutta, on the 28th ultimo. He was given up to the Hooghly police by one Babu Mohundra Nath Palit of Connagore, with whom he is said to have taken refuge about the 25th ultimo.

THIS is a part of Vanity Fair's political information :—"Lord Lyton has been requested to state how many troops could be spared from India in case of an emergency requiring their presence nearer home. In his reply he has stated that in case of a war against Russia 200,000 men might easily and rapidly be raised from among the Mahomedans of India."

Et avec ca ? This enervating 'anything else' of French shopkeepers once gave rise to a very witty reply from the late Victor Emmanuel. When in Paris some ten years ago, he entered a shop in which he had noticed a very pretty girl, and, like a bon bourgeois, purchased a pair of braces. "Et avec ca ?" asked the shopkeeper. After the young lady, with a winning smile, had handed the small parcel to the Roi galantuomo, 'Avec ca,' answered Victor Emmanuel, nettled at the intrusion of the jealous tradesman—'avec ca, monsieur, je fais mon pantalon."

THE World :—The number of fat geese in Ireland was diminished last week by well-nigh two hundred ; and the cause of this anserous exportation and immolation does so much credit to the head and heart of Major-General Fraser, V. C., that a statement of the circumstances connected with the goose-raid may not be wholly irrelevant. Everybody knows how Charley Fraser was identified with the 11th Hussars. That regiment has just returned from Indian service. Geese are not Indian dainties ; what so appropriate as to give each trooper a goose, or at any rate a large portion of that sage bird ? Surely this is a more appreciable kindness than the presentation of a Christmas or New Year's card with all good wishes, which seems like giving lace-ruffles to a man in want of a shirt, as one Goldsmith of happy memory remarked.

THE Pall Mall Gazette has the following shrewd comments, since justified by Lord Carnarvon's secession, on the alleged union in the Cabinet :—"Among all the uncertainties which the ministerial declarations of last night were expected to clear up there was none so fruitful in anxiety as that respecting the condition of opinion among the Ministers themselves. In the Times summary of the speeches it is stated that Lord Salisbury 'repudiated the notion of the existence of disunion in the Cabinet.' No categorical declaration of the kind is to be found from one end of his lordship's speech to the other ; but we are quite willing to accept Lord Salisbury's protest against the unauthorised statements of 'our old friends the newspapers,' as indirectly conveying his denial of the charge. But does such a denial remove, ought it to remove, the suspicions which on this point are so widely entertained ? It can only do so on the assumption that this ministerial disclaimer covers all the particulars of the suspicion. Nobody has ever doubted that in one sense the Cabinet is united. The Cabinet, in the belief of all but a few fanatics, are of one mind as to the theoretical definition of British neutrality in the present war—they agree, that is, in defining it as 'conditional ;' and if they were asked one by one whether in certain circumstances they would be prepared to depart from our neutrality, there is not one of them who would not bitterly as his reply might disappoint some whom his speeches may have misled) make answer in the affirmative. Unanimity to this extent has never been questioned ; but is this enough ? and, if not, does it go any further ? Is it the fact that Ministers are equally agreed upon the question as to what are the circumstances which should compel us to abandon our neutral position ? Would the answer be unanimous if Ministers were severally asked to assign the point in the Russian advance at which they would consider the conditions of our neutrality to have been infringed ? And if so—if that very large and most doubtful assumption may be made—would the agreement, as it ought to do, go further yet ? Granting that Ministers are in accord, not only as to the duty of taking action at a certain point, but as to the point itself, are they also in accord as to the character of the action ? If they can all say Yes to the question, Will you act ? and return a common answer to the question, When will you act ? how would they answer the question, What will you do ? With one voice or with two ? If with one, then never were there men whose speeches so successfully disguised the harmony that prevails among them. The country has now observed them for months, and has taken note of every word that has fallen from them ; and the result has been a universal conviction, based upon their own repeated utterances, that unanimity in the larger sense—agreement as to means as well as ends—is absent from their counsels. That we say is the conviction of the country, and nothing which was said in either House of Parliament suffices to remove it. Not all of the Ministers whose language has suggested disunion took part in the debate ; those who did so said nothing which was not consistent with the belief that the ministerial unanimity means assent to certain verbal propositions, and must change into discord at the point of action. They may deny, and with formal truth, that the Cabinet is at this moment divided ; but if their union means no more than we have described, it may be found to produce all the ruinous results of admitted discord. It is not with such union as this that the country can be satisfied ; and it will not lay aside its fears so long as they doubt that no better union exists."

FIRST CRIMINAL SESSIONS.

FOURTH DAY, THURSDAY, 7TH FEBRUARY.

(Before Mr. Justice BAYLEY.)

THE CHARGE AGAINST A FOLLOWER OF THE THAKORE OF PALITANA.

MAHADEWSING JHASABHAI, a Hindoo and a native of Palitana, was charged with having voluntarily caused grievous hurt by means of an instrument for cutting. The facts of this case have already been fully published in the newspapers.

Mr. Starling, who appeared for the defence, applied under Section 120 of Act X. of 1875, to have the question tried whether the prisoner is of sound mind and capable of taking his trial.

Mr. Lang, counsel for the prosecution, consented to the preliminary question being tried, but contended that it was necessary first to have the prisoner examined by medical gentlemen on behalf of the Crown.

His Lordship concurred in this view, and the case was postponed till Monday, when the question of the prisoner's present sanity will be tried.

DRUGGING A MAN AND ROBBING HIM.

GOVINDCHUND RAMCHUND, a young Hindoo, was charged with having, on the 29th January 1878, administered datura, a stupefying drug to Sorajee Gooloo Ramanund, with intent to commit theft, and also with having actually robbed the said Ramanund of sixteen rupees and fourteen annas.

The prosecutor, a resident of Trichinopoly, said that on the 28th January he was travelling by rail to Bombay and the prisoner, whom he had never seen before, got into the same carriage with him at Sholapore. He and the prisoner conversed together on the journey and both got out of the train at the Byculla station on the following day. In the course of their conversation, he told the prisoner that he had Rs. 127, less two annas, in his possession, and asked him to point out a place where he could stay during his stoppage in Bombay. They went to a house in the native town where the prisoner gave him some cards to eat, which made him intoxicated and caused him to lose his senses. When he "came to" again, on the evening of the following day, he found himself in hospital. At the time when he went with the prisoner to the house, he had Rs. 127 (less two annas), Rs. 110 of which were in a long purse tied round his waist, the remaining sixteen rupees and fourteen annas being fastened in a corner of his dhotur. When he returned to his senses in the hospital he had neither his money nor his clothes, but was wearing an hospital dress. A police jemadar had since told him that some of his money had been found, but he did not know how much. A dhotur produced belonged to him, and was the one worn by him on the day in question. One corner of the dhotur had been cut off.

Other evidence was given to the effect that after the prosecutor became insensible, the prisoner called a bullock cart and took him away in it, but the owner of the house where they had supped followed them and called a policeman. The men were then searched and Rs. 16-14 were found in the possession of the prisoner and Rs. 110 on the person of the prosecutor. The result of the investigation was that the prisoner was lodged in chowkey, and the prosecutor was conveyed to the J. J. Hospital, where it was found that he was suffering from the effects of having consumed a quantity of datura, which had apparently been administered along with the curds given him by the prisoner.

In answer to the charge, the prisoner said the prosecutor had told lies, and the money found on him belonged to himself.

The jury, after a short consultation, returned a verdict of guilty ; and the prisoner was sentenced to rigorous imprisonment for two years.

FIFTH DAY, FRIDAY, 8TH FEBRUARY.

THE following case, committed by the Hon'ble Dosabhoy Framjee on Tuesday last, was heard before his Lordship and a common jury :—

HOUSE-BREAKING AND THEFT.

Lookman Wallee and Buchia Tyeb were charged with house-breaking and theft. On Sunday forenoon last, Luxumon Govind, the prosecutor, a gardener living in a hut at Dadar, left his room with his wife and child to work in the compound, securing the door with a chain. He had then a silver anklet and some articles of wearing apparel locked in a box or hanging on a peg in the hut. On coming back, however, he heard, to his alarm, ran to his room and saw the door open and the first prisoner running away. He was soon after seized by a policeman with some of the prosecutor's property upon his person. The staple of the box had been broken off. The second prisoner was subsequently arrested by another policeman.

The jury convicted both the prisoners of theft. The first, an old offender, was sentenced to be transported for ten years ; while the second was sentenced to rigorous imprisonment for two years.

The Criminal Sessions were then adjourned until Monday next.

The following report was read by the Principal of the College, Dr. Cook :—

Your Excellency and Gentlemen,—In laying before you the report of the college for the present year which is the thirty-second since its first opening, it is my duty and pleasure to show that the success which has in recent years attended the institution, as evidenced by the data I brought forward on the last annual occasion, has not been diminished ; while the greater interest evinced by the students in their studies and the stricter attention to their duties, which have resulted in unusual success at the late University examinations, affords assurance in the hope that the standard of education is fully sustained and that a better appreciation of the advantages offered is growing amongst them. I hope that in the further development of the means for the practical teaching of pathology and morbid anatomy which, through the liberality of the Government there is reason to anticipate will be soon realised, the position of the institution as a school of medicine will be yet further improved.

CHANGES IN THE STAFF DURING THE YEAR.

The frequent changes in the teaching staff of the college with the disadvantages incident to them which we have had so frequently to note on previous occasions have, I am happy to state, been fewer than usual.

On the 30th of April, at the conclusion of the winter session, I proceeded to England on six months furlough, and returning to duty, resumed charge on the 29th October. During my absence Surgeon Major Vandyke Carter, M. D., acted for me as Principal ; Professor Hilaine and Hygiene, Surgeon Arnott, Professor of Pathology, took three months privilege leave to Europe from the 27th July ; as, however, the course of lectures is delivered during the winter session his absence did not necessitate the appointment of an acting Professor.

The following is a brief summary of the numerical strength of the several classes and the changes which have taken place.

GRADUATES AND UNDERGRADUATES.

There were 182 students, of whom 28 were freshmen. 29 senior students went up for their final examination for ... or Medicine and Surgery degree of the University of Bombay. Two died, one is gone to England to complete his education in the English schools of medicine, and six have withdrawn from the college. There were thus 153 on the college rolls.

Of the six gentlemen referred to in my last annual report as having gone to England to obtain an English qualification, three, viz., Messrs. H. D. Mussani, K. R. Kirikkar, and M. S. Reporter have successfully passed their examinations and obtained commissions in the Indian Medical Service.

Encouraged by the success which had thus attended the venture, three other students of this college, viz., Messrs. H. Jervis, K. S. Nariman, and B. R. Koyajee, the first of whom had previously obtained their degree of L.M. and in the Bombay University, proceeded to England and presented themselves as candidates for commissions in the service, and were, I am glad to say, successful. Thus out of the 47 gentlemen who have passed into the Covenanted Medical Service of Government, no less than 6 were from this college ; a result which is, I believe, not yet emulated by the sister college of Calcutta, nor indeed exceeded by any individual medical school of England. The Indian Medical Service has always stood high in public estimation. The advantages which it offers to natives of this country in pay, position, and prospects is unrivalled by any medical service in the world. They are, it seems to me, advantages which, in addition to residing in their own country and climate, in the midst of their own relatives and with none indeed of the contingent deprivations which attend the European members of the service, they hold a most enviable position. It is not surprising, therefore, that the service should offer attractions which in all probability will be promptly responded to, and that a large number of those educated here will eventually enter it. That the teaching of this college, completes in every respect for one of the students for successful competition with their European confreres, is evident from the satisfactory results I have noted.

HOSPITAL APPRENTICE CLASS.

At the commencement of the session there were 25 apprentices in this class, 5 of whom were duly admitted. Three went up for their final examination and two were found qualified and passed. One apprentice died, and one who failed in his final examination left the college. This class, therefore, consisted at the end of the session of 21 student apprentices.

MARATHI VERNACULAR CLASS.

There were 51 pupils in this class. Of these 30 were native medical pupils, 19 of whom were new admissions. Of the total number six have resigned the service. Of the remainder, Dr. Cursetji Dady, (which included the number of 11 new admissions) successfully passed their final examination. The total number of native medical and vernacular pupils in the class amounts to 42.

GUZERATHI VERNACULAR CLASS.

This class consisted of 22 pupils. Nine of these passed their final examination, one left on account of sickness, leaving a balance of 12 in the class. This class will be closed in September next.

Hogan, and J. E. De Souza ; the former gains the McLennan silver medal. Mr. Hogan had also obtained during his 1st and 2nd year the Burnes and Arnott medals respectively.

FINAL EXAMINATION OF THE MARATHI VERNACULAR CLASS.

There were 3 candidates and all were found qualified for the grade of passed native medical pupils. Their names are Vithul Lingoo, Tookaram Vishram, and Moroo Ramchunder.

FINAL EXAMINATION OF THE MARATHI MIDWIFE CLASS.

There were 7 in this class. Of these 6 presented themselves for final examination held in April last, the remaining one was prevented from attending. She was therefore specially examined by the acting Principal and Professor and Teacher of Midwifery in October ; I am happy to be able to report that all have passed their examination successfully.

GUZERATHI MIDWIFE CLASS.

The funds for the support of this class have been provided by the bounty of Sir Cowasjee Jehangier Readymoney. No suitable candidates having come forward during the last year the class was temporarily broken up, but I am happy to be able to report that a class consisting of four female students has been formed since the 1st of January 1878 and is now under the tuition of Mr. Kavasji Pestonji, a Graduate of the Grant Medical College.

The examinations of the Marathi and Guzerathi classes were held as usual in September by the vernacular teachers assisted by the following assessors, viz, for the Marathi Class, Messrs. Atmaram Pandoorang, Anna Moreshwar Kunte, Moreshwar Vishnu and Pandoorang Gopal ; and for the Guzerathi Class, Messrs. PATHOLOGICAL LABORATORY.

Work has been lately commenced in the Pathological Laboratory, which, I hope, will prove of great practical utility to the senior students. It is now provided with all the necessary apparatus, as microscopes, preservative fluids, chemical reagents, &c., and a series of register books in which the daily observations made in the dead room are recorded. The work is presided over by Dr. Anna Moreshwer Kunte, the Demonstrator of Anatomy, to whose zealous cooperation I am much indebted. Several of the students, chiefly from the large class of 4th year's men have volunteered to carry on the necessary daily work, and I am confident that we shall soon have as many workers in this field of practical observation as our somewhat limited space will allow of. It gives me great pleasure to add that, through the ever ready liberality of Sir Cowasjee Jehangir Readymoney, I shall be able, at the conclusion of the first year of work in this laboratory, to offer a prize to the student who has most distinguished himself in the practical study of Morbid Anatomy. Sir Cawasjee, on incidentally learning that such a prize was calculate to stimulate application in this direction, immediately made the offer contained in the following letter.

"MY DEAR DR. COOK,—As I learn from you that it is thought desirable to offer a suitable prize to students who distinguish themselves in the study of Morbid Anatomy as an encouragement to the prosecution of that study, I have the pleasure to offer the sum of Rs. 1,500 (one thousand five hundred) in Government promissory notes bearing 5 per cent. to provide an annual prize to be awarded as you think best suited to the object in view as above stated.—I am &c.,

COWASJEE JEHANGIRE.

In this only one of a series of instances in which this philanthropic citizen has shown in earnest desire to further the interests of medical education in Bombay. In this very liberal donation to the Library, and by still more munificent ones for the foundation of medical scholarships for the junior matriculated and the Guzerathi vernacular classes, and more recently for the support of the Guzerathi midwife class, he has proved himself a staunch friend to the college. Shut off from the outside world as he necessarily is by his infirm condition, he thus shows that his interest in the advancement of education, and in the public welfare, is not lessened by the seclusion which, I regret to say, his state enforces, and in his larger gifts of a Ophthalmic Hospital to the city and the Civil Hospital to Surat with several dispensaries in other localities, he attempts to place, within the reach of the poor, the benefit of medical science, and thus allay the evils of pain and disease in which, to so great an extent, he is himself a sharer.

THE JAMSETJEE JEEJEEBHOY BOOK FUND.

The late Sir Jamsetjee Jeejeebhoy Bart. in the year 1848 paid a donation of Rs. 10,000 into the Government Treasury on condition that the interest thereon should be annually expended in purchasing books for the library of the college required by the students of the College. The interest accruing on this donation has, during the year, been distributed among the deserving students in the college in strict compliance with the wishes of the donor.

MATERIA MEDICA COLLECTION.

This continues to receive due attention from Surgeon Major W. Dymock, B. A., Professor of Materia Medica. The specimens of native drugs which were damaged have been replaced by fresh ones by Assistant Surgeon Shantaram Vithul, teacher of Materia Medica, to the Marathi vernacular class.

MUSEUM.

Thirty-five new specimens in morbid and comparative anatomy have been added to the Museum.

Secretary to the "Venayeckrao Juggonnath Sunkersett Memorial Fund" forwarded to the Acting Principal a donation in the form of a four per cent Government promissory note (Rs. 10) with a request that the interest accruing thereon may be annually devoted to awarding a prize to any one of the pupils of the college in such form and manner as to the college authorities may seem most desirable ; and Government, on the recommendation of the Acting Principal, have sanctioned the acceptance of the offer. The interest has been laid out in the purchase of books as a prize to be awarded to the Marathi vernacular pupil who, at the entrance examination of the college, has come out first in the list.

The examination for the admission into the Marathi class of the college commenced on the 23rd of October and was conducted by the teachers superintended by the Acting Principal, Dr. Cook. The test was confined to the number of 11 new admissions) successfully passed their final examination. The total number of native medical and vernacular pupils in the class amounts to 42.

There were in all 53 candidates for admission into the Vernacular Class. Of these 23 were native medical and 31 vernacular pupils. Of the former 20 and of the latter 13 were found qualified.

In my last annual report I had the pleasure of bringing to notice the name of Hurjee Ramchunder who was sent here from Indore by the ... for the Medical Class, Messrs. Atmaram Pandoorang, Anna Marathi Class, Messrs. Moreshwar Kunte, the Demonstrator of Anatomy, to whose zealous cooperation I am much indebted. Several of the students, chiefly from the large class of 4th year's men have volunteered to carry on the necessary daily work, and I am confident that we shall soon have as many workers in this field of practical observation as our somewhat limited space will allow of.
